A PATHETIC SIGHT IN A BOSTON COURT

When Trembling and Unnerved He Stepped to the Rail and Covered Face With Hands to Shut Out Spectators' View—Spent Night in Jail.

Boston, Aug. 2.—After filling positions of trust and responsibility for forty years and enjoying all the luxuries due the position of a wealthy man, Willard C. Vanderlip spent last night in the Charles street jail. Vanderlip is charged with the embezzlement of $200,000 from the estate of George D. Emerson, father of Mrs. Judge John Lowell. He admits that there is a defalcation of about $100,000.

He was led into court yesterday afternoon presenting a pathetic sight.

Trembling and unnerved, he took his place on the settee in the court. At the call of the clerk he stepped to the rail, and covered his face with his hands so as to shut out the view of the sightseers in the spectators' seats. His bail was fixed at $8,000, and scores of friends hurried to secure the necessary bonds, but when the jail office was closed last night the man who until a few days ago, could scarcely count influential friends he had, found he was forced to spend the night in jail.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The Central American states are in a condition of turmoil that is causing anxiety here, as the isthmian canal gives Uncle Sam a deeper interest in preserving tranquility. Harvey, editor of Harpers' Magazine; Hon. Edw. Kent, of New York; Senator Millard, of Nebraska; and Geo. W. Hinman, editor of the Chicago Inter Ocean. Senator Millard was the bitter opponent of the President's reciprocity plan and the meeting will hardly be a love feast. Millard will probably discuss the sugar tariff.

GEN. SMITH

Hears First News Of His Disgrace Before Landing.

LEARNED SENTENCE OF HIS RETIREMENT FROM THE PILOT.

RESULT OF HIS COURT MARTIAL.

Penalty for Having Ordered the Island of Samar Transferred into a Howling Wilderness

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—General Jacob Smith, tried by court martial for having ordered the island of Samar transferred into a howling wilderness arrived here on the transport Thomas. The Pilot which met the Thomas just outside the heads at 2 o'clock yesterday morning brought to General Smith the first news of the President having retired him from active duty. In the falling light of a blinding lamp two veteran read the message that apprised him of his fate.

An hour later the dawn came and with it the sight of land, but General Smith had retired to his cabin, where with his wife and chief aide, Lieut. J. H. Shields of the 1st infantry, he discussed the outcome of the long ordeal through which he had passed. Six hours later, when the Thomas reached the quarantine station in the harbor, Major Duval of the transport service, boarded the ship with his secretary and met both General Smith and Lieutenant Shields at the door of the general's cabin. A sealed document from the war department was handed General Smith. It contained the official notification of President Roosevelt's action, and upon reading it General Smith retired, overcome with emotion.

General Smith on landing denied himself to all interviewers. Together with his wife and aide, General Smith proceeded to the Occidental hotel repairing thence to army headquarters in the Phelan building, where he remained during the morning. General Smith, who is wearing civilian attire, appeared exceedingly nervous and worn. His 62 years are plainly read in his every action and his intimate friends fear he is breaking down under the severe strain to which he has been subjected in recent months.

It is not yet known when General Smith will proceed east. His sealed orders require him to report to the Adjutant General at Washington and it is likely he will lose no time in starting for the national capital.

MINERS QUIET

No Sign That the Troops at Shenandoah Will Have Occasion for Active Service.

Shenandoah, Aug. 2.—Perfect quiet continued among the strikers last night and this morning. There was some stone throwing by the strikers but the militia speedily put a stop to this and the incident amounted to nothing. Generally there seems to be no disposition on the part of the strikers to participate in any further disturbance and there seems no sign that the troops here will have any occasion for active service.

PEACE COMMITTEE.

Shenandoah, Aug. 2.—President Fahy of the Miners' Union began organizing a peace committee this morning to preserve order. He says the miners must see that the disorderly are put in jail. ## LENA YANS

NEWARK DEAF AND DUMB GIRL ASSAULTED.

Her Father Summoned to Columbus and the Victim is Sent to the Hospital.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Thursday afternoon Landlord Cosgrove of the Arlington hotel, North High street, reported to the police that about four o'clock Thursday morning Henry Johnson of Dayton and Lena Yans of Newark, called at the place and registered as husband and wife and were given a room.

Early in the afternoon Johnson went away leaving the woman in the room. Upon investigation Mr. Cosgrove found the woman was deaf and dumb, and that she had been beaten nearly to death.

He also learned her father's name to whom he telephoned.

A physician was called to attend the girl and he ordered her moved to a hospital.

She was taken to St. Francis hospital in the city ambulance.

Upon investigation the police learned that the girl was twenty years old and that she had been working as a domestic for Lillian Niel who conducts a resort at 35 West Town street.

She says the Neil woman owed her and when she asked her to settle the landlady beat her nearly to death and threw her into the street.

She was unconscious for a time and while she lay on the street Johnson came along and picked her up. He thought she was drunk and after getting her onto her feet he took her to the Arlington. When he discovered that she had been beaten he deserted her, evidently fearing he might get in trouble.

The woman denies the girl's story, but the police say that they have heard of such things happening at 35 West Town street before. They say it is customary for the Neil woman to receive to pay the girls who work for her.

Miss Yans is badly bruised about the chest, back, arms and neck, but was on the way to recovery Friday morning.

In view of the fact that the Neil woman denies all knowledge of the assault the police are working on the theory that the assault might have been made somewhere else, probably by the girl's companion at the Arlington hotel. The officers are trying to locate Johnson but they do not believe that is his name.

PURINTON'S FAST

Reasons and Results Stated By The Scientist Himself

Who Furnishes the Advocate the First and Only Authorized Statement.

DINNER, DISEASE, DEATH A TRIUMVIRATE

At Whose Slightest Nod Humanity's Chief Executioner Smites Down at 35 a Man Whose Body Should Last 200 Years—Fast Chiefly for Revelation and Psychic Power.

Prof. Edward E. Purinton, formerly of Granville, son of the former president of Denison university, Dr. D. B. Purinton, has lived for the past 23 days at Morgantown W. Va., without tasting food. This young man, who is an eminent scholar, has for scientific purposes, attempted a thirty-day fast, which thus far has proved entirely successful.

The Advocate has published several press dispatches from Morgantown concerning this fast, the last being an outline of a lecture given by Prof. Purinton last Saturday night. This week the Advocate addressed a letter to the young scientist requesting him to prepare an article for publication, giving his reasons for undertaking the fast and the results so far attained. The following reply has just been received. It is the first detailed account given to the press and is the only authorized explanation given out for publication.

This fast undertaken by a man of Professor Purinton's calibre, is attracting unusual interest throughout the country and a special personal interest is taken in it at Granville and Newark where Mr. Purinton is well and favorably known. The full text of his letter follows:

Morgantown, W. Va., Aug. 1.—In response to your most kindly letter of inquiry and in explanation of the Advocate clipping concerning my 30 day fast I take great pleasure in outlining the real facts in the case as requested by the Advocate. I deplore notoriety, preferring to wait a few years—when I shall have something to give the world that will bring so-called fame. But I welcome just as emphatically the truth-seeking spirit and your article and your letter are full of it.

This is the first detailed account given to the press—your courtesy demands it.

The enclosed clippings from Morgantown Post and New Dominion give a truthful but inadequate summing up of the lecture Saturday night, and a few points in addition may be of interest.

There were several motives actuating the fast. The first was perhaps a professional one. My therapeutic work at Director of the Naturopathic school of Regeneration, includes some thirty or forty systems of body and brain culture, from diet, rejuvenative breathing, physical culture and hydrotherapy to new thought, mental regeneration and spirit unfoldment. I had experimented personally with all these systems save the fast cure, and I found that the rules given by Mr. McFadden, Dr. Dewey and other professional fasters, were neither universal nor satisfactory in application. It seemed necessary therefore to make personal experience the basis of a new set of rules for fasting. Results have borne me out. And in September or October I shall publish my conclusions in "Naturopath and Herald of Health", 111 East 59th street, New York City.

This is the Health magazine for which I write regularly, and this special article will embody a dozen or so new directions for the successful prosecution of the fast cure.

It is not my purpose to advertise this magazine. I don't agree with its teachings in all particulars. But you have asked for the whole truth, and the quickest way to get it will be to read the aforementioned article.

There are a number of kind friends in Ohio, West Virginia, New York and elsewhere who are so eminently sane as to depend for their sustenance on the grosser elements in gastronomic food. And I want the account of this fast to be a revelation for people whose brain tags their stomach.

That the fast is not, however, the central measure of Naturopathy is proven by marked copy "Naturopath and Herald of Health," enclosed you under separate cover. The July number contains some seven pages of my theories and beliefs, and may serve to clear up the haze of misinterpretation. The second motive was personal—and is summed up in four words, Renovation, Domination, Delectation and Illumination.

Renovation purifies the physical body of disease present and potential. I have not the time, nor you the space, to give the detailed proof of clinical cases. These were referred to by name and the wholesale, at the lecture Saturday night. And for those interested, I suggest two books: "The No-Breakfast Plan and Fast Cure" by Dr. E. H. Dewey, Meadville Pa., and "Fasting, Hydropathy and Exercise," by Beman McFadden, 1123 Broadway, New York City. These books are not to be trusted in toto, but are perhaps the most lucid.

The second object is Domination. And I want to declare that the voluntary fast brings a mental control, a conscious power over the body, a tightening grasp on Cosmos that is forever beyond the scope of external healing, or educating, or religionizing.

Dinner, Disease and Death are the logical and lusty triumvirate at whose slightest nod Humanity's chief executioner—Fear—smites down at 35 a man whose body should last at least 200 years and then be transmuted into the universal, unsullied by the fleeting shadow we call Death. Break the shackles of meal time, evolve from the family table, forget the archaic dinner bell, let hunger alone dictate as to the time and choice and manner and amount and atmosphere and motive in eating—and you've taken the first step toward individual growth.

The third item is Delectation. And my own experience will prove this most conclusively. After a continuous fast of 22 days I am beginning to feel actual hunger, for the first time in ten years. It's taken more than three weeks to rid the body of the relics of white flour fare, fried potatoes, meat microbes, pickles, condiments, pastries and the rest of the poison procession I used to swallow for food. And when the child hunger fully returns, there's going to be a sensuous delight in eating appreciable only to the pristine purity of the unperverted palate.

Moreover, it's fun to fast—when you do it right. You're outwitting the doctors and becoming your own beauty, specialist, and learning to breathe as you couldn't when your lungs were wedged in cruelly between a stuffed stomach and congested liver, and taking the pressure of decaying food off your solar plexus so it can send out some retro-acting love thrills.

Frankly, however, the fourth object of attainment was to me the most important. It is true that the liver and

MAY WANTS BRADLEE

Forgiving Him the Actress Begs Him to Return to Her, Promising All She Possesses—Exchange of Notes Between Strong and Miss Yohe.

London, Aug. 2.—A reconciliation between May Yohe and Captain Puzam Bradlee Strong is anticipated. This note, dated London, received by the actress at the Savoy hotel yesterday, caused Miss Yohe to abandon her trip to Paris:

"Dear Mazy—Excuse the shakiness of my writing. I am nearly crazy. I can't you accuse me of stealing. This will be handed to you by a messenger who knows my address and who will forward any mail or wire. If you love me write or wire. If possible the latter as a letter may reach me too late. Remember, I am even until the next world, Yours,

"BRADLEE."

Miss Yohe wrote in reply: "Come back. I forgive all. Mazy."

She waited for a reply and when none came she became hysterical continually crying: "Why don't he come? My God, I would give my soul for Bradlee."

He may be dead. He can have everything I have if he will only come back."

Miss Yohe today applied to the police for help in finding the whereabouts of Strong. The officials of Scotland Yard turned deaf ears to her as she made no charges against Captain Strong. Miss Yohe then said she intended to go to Paris to look for Strong but she gave up the trip later with the idea that Strong would be more likely to turn up here than at the French capital.

THE SHAM REPUBLICAN TALK ABOUT TRUSTS.

The average intelligent reader must entertain the most profound contempt for the sham talk in Republican newspapers about the laws that their party is going to enact against trusts. All the late long session of Congress was frittered away without even an attempt to pass an anti-trust measure of any kind whatever. The Republican newspapers too, never even chirped about any such legislation during the entire time of the session. Now the talk about legislating against trusts at the short session of Congress next winter can be accepted in no other light than that of a most transparent false pretense. No such legislation is ever attempted at the short session of Congress. But if such an attempt were to be made at the next session, the Republican leaders—the agents and attorneys for the trusts in Congress—would very quickly nip it in the bud and blight it at a touch. The trusts know they are perfectly secure in their reign of robbery. All this anti-trust talk now simply shows that the party of shams has not even a decent respect for the intelligence of the people.

Rev. Peter MacQueen Tells His Cystic Boy Experience.

The Rev. Peter MacQueen, pastor of the First Parish Congregational church at Charlestown, Mass., who recently sailed from New York for Cuba, where he will spend a few days on the isthmus and then proceed to Cuba to visit President Palma, wrote to a Boston friend that he called upon President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, N. Y., the other day. Continuing, he says: "The president was dressed in a tennis suit and greeted me cordially. No guards were near him, merely one manservant, a canny Scot from Glasgow. A parishioner could not have been more cordial. "By George," said the president, "I'm glad you came before I went away." The conversation was of a private nature. One thing he said may be quoted: "I want justice. I want to pursue an honorable course toward all questions and all interests."

MUNICIPAL CODE

GOV. NASH'S PRESENT SECRECY CREATING RESENTMENT

Hanna's Bossism Also Causing Trouble—The Code May Be Badly Disfigured Before Passing

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Governor Nash comes out flat-footed with the statement that absolutely nothing in regard to his municipal code bill will be made public until it is submitted to the legislature along with his message convening that body in extra session. The governor practically admits that unless the greatest secrecy is maintained in regard to the new code he will never be able to frame it as he desires. Only half a dozen people know what he contemplates and he is not prepared to risk the results of a more general knowledge. He cannot afford to take the public into his confidence, for in that event there would be such a storm of objection around the state house as to stop all work on the measure and let Bedlam loose.

The governor's secrecy has created much resentment even in Republican circles during the past week and the propriety of his submitting any formulated code whatever to the legislature is now seriously questioned by some of his political associates who formerly supported him in everything. "What would the people of the country think," said one of the most prominent Republicans in the state in the hearing of your correspondent the other day, "if the president of the United States were to send an appropriation bill or a tariff bill to congress with a message practically demanding its enactment? That would be imperialism of the rankiest type and the people would never tolerate it. Yet here is the Governor of Ohio taking a course that the President would never dare to adopt."

It is understood that some protests along this line will come from the committees on municipal affairs of the two houses when they meet in joint session to consider the governor's code. Ordinarily these committees would have sole direction of the preliminary steps in this important legislation, but at the dictation of Hanna their powers are now all arrogated in favor of the Governor and the boss. The protests from the Republican members may not be outspoken, but will be expressed in what they will do to the new code after it comes into their hands. They will not handle it as tenderly as they would if it were their own child, and in consequence there is a fair chance that the Governor's code will be badly disfigured before it leaves the committee. The members of the legislature, it should be remembered, will have the whip hand after the session opens, for they can prolong it indefinitely, meanwhile demanding concessions by the code-makers as the price of adjournment.

The announcement that Mr. Hanna is coming to Columbus to superintend the work of legislation in person is not taken kindly by many statesmen who consider themselves good Republicans. They regard it as a notice to them that the boss must be supreme, and that injunction too often delivered eventually becomes as offensive as it is impudent. It is an unprecedented thing for a United States senator to thus openly meddle in legislative affairs in which he has apparently no greater interest than other people. It was bad enough when Senator Foraker came here to lobby for the fifty-year street railway franchise bills, but he was at least able to explain that he appeared as the paid attorney of the corporations interested. Mr. Hanna is not an attorney, although he is an expert lobbyist, and he would hardly be willing to acknowledge that he had a financial interest in the new code. His meddling will complicate the situation very seriously and in the long run will not increase his political prestige. It may be the last exhibition of bossism he will ever be able to parade before the public in the midst of a legislative session.

"There will be others," however, and in large numbers. The session promises to give Columbus the appearance of entertaining a political convention drawn out into weeks and perhaps months. General Dick is coming along with Hanna. Each will have his headquarters in full blast as if a governor were about to be nominated or a United States senator to be elected. Then there will be a horde of lawyers and professional city politicians, all with "views" and axes to grind. Numerous city councils will send committees, and the train of supernumeraries that always follow in Hanna's wake will be strongly in evidence. Every influence will be brought to bear on the members of the legislature to indicate to them that their presence here is a mere formality and that only outsiders are to be considered in the real work to be done. If the legislators are not fonder of eating humble pie than many people believe, there will be a revolt against this espionage. All things considered, the Republicans of Ohio have never faced a crisis more serious than that now confronting them. Out from the tortuous paths they are in there appears only one deliverance, and that is toward the straight and narrow road of Democracy. With the nomination of a strong ticket and the adoption of a platform on which all Democrats can unite at Sandusky, the Democratic party can carry Ohio this year.

Indigestion, weak stomach, irregularities of bowels cannot exist where Walthers' Peptonized Port is used.

The case of Mary A. Summerville vs. Geo. B. Summerville, et al., was tried to Judge Taylor Saturday. The plaintiff is a resident of Kansas, and sues for alimony. The defendant introduced a contract of settlement signed by plaintiff by which defendant paid plaintiff $350, in settlement of any claims or interest plaintiff may have in the property of defendant. Plaintiff asks that defendant be ordered to pay a further sum for support. The defendant claimed that he was a nonresident of Licking Co. and that the Probate Court had no jurisdiction to hear the case under the statutes of Ohio. The court reserved its decision. FRIARS TO LEAVE

Washington, Aug. 2.—Well informed officials of the war department are not in the least surprised at the statement cabled from Rome to the effect that the vatican intends that the friars of the Augustina, Dominican Franciscan and Recolles orders now in Manila shall leave there gradually. Private information received by the war department some time ago indicated that the vatican would take such action after a short period of time.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 2.—Posses have started from several points in eastern Washington to intercept the outlaw, Tracy, who is supposed to be in the sheep country of the Great Northern. An effort will be made to surround him there. Sheriff Cuddehe's posse passed through here at 3 o'clock this morning to join search to acknowledge that he had a financial interest in the new code. His meddling will complicate the situation very seriously and in the long run will not increase his political prestige. It may be the last exhibition of bossism he will ever be able to parade before the public in the midst of a legislative session.

BASE BALL —AND— OTHER SPORTS

Newark was beaten at base ball Friday afternoon by the Columbus Unions at the East End Ball park and the defeat was a crushing one. There was a fair crowd present, but not nearly so large as should have been out to see the game. The pitcher who started for Newark was wild and when he got them over they were hit safely. The Unions have been due for a slugging bee and Newark happened to be the first victims. In four innings they made 17 hits good for fifteen runs. In the face of this fusillade of base hit, Newark's fielders who are new to each other, went to pieces, but the men from Columbus got their runs principally by good hitting.

Bob Fulton, who essayed to umpire the game, was also responsible for some of the runs. In the third inning he called Heisey out at first when he was plainly safe, and in the same inning gave a Columbus player a base on balls when he really should have been struck out. This would have retired the side with one run but Newark's pitcher went up in the air after the decision was announced and Unions batted in five more runs. Fulton also nipped the fine batting rally after Newark had scored four runs, by calling a Newark player out at home, when Hedges missed him a foot.

The Unions played a consistent game, and not a sign of dirty ball cropped out. Their captain Jack Reed the famous bowler will not stand for it. Reed's third base play was one of the features.

After the game was hopelessly lost, Captain Heisey sent Joe. Atkinson, the Pataskala lad, who pitched good ball for Ohio State University this season, in to pitch, and lifted Graesser and Dickinson from the game. "Kid" Davis went to right field and O'Joy to left.

Dickinson's two errors were, very costly, and a misjudged fly that should have been an easy out, had to go as a two bagger. Graesser is a good player, but his indifference and listlessness in the field is costly. A hit that passes him is always good for a couple of extra bases. He goes after the ball in a slow, indifferent manner, as if he was tired. There is no excuse for this, in a player of Graesser's ability and brains, and of all things on earth this is the one that calls down the imprecations of the crowds who go to see a game.

Get a move on you George. If you want to play, play to win, and appear to take some interest in the team's success even if you don't feel it. REAR ADMIRAL HIGGINSON.

The attacking squadron will be in fighting trim, with all temporary or movable gear sent below and the decks cleared for action. The fall maneuvers, as they are called, will last for a week. "It will be as nearly a condition of war as it is possible to secure," said Rear Admiral Higginson the other day, "and there will be no child's play about them. The movements of the vessels will be protected by as much secrecy as if they were bent on a bona fide hostile mission."

August Van Biene, the actor-celulist, who had a varied experience in this country some seasons ago with a play called "A Broken Melody," appears to be finding a great deal to worry him even where he is better known and, report says, better appreciated.

In an effort to get away from a part he had played something like 3,000 times and which the physicians told him would eventually drive him insane he produced "A Play Without a Name," asking the audience to contribute suggestions for a title and offering a prize of $25 for the best. According to the latest information, Mr. Van Biene had not accepted any one of the names, though he promised to announce a choice on the second night. Thousands of slips were sent in, and Mr. Van Biene said that none suited him, and it is announced that he is quite as near becoming "dotty" by the effort to select the winner as he was before. The story of the play was from the German. Mr. Van Biene played a father whose daughters did not marry happily. They were not removed from their unpleasant connections at the end of the drama, nor indeed was any progress made. The time was taken up with domestic squabbling and Mr. Van Biene's excellent cello playing.

A Royal Visitor.

The Grand Duke Boris, first cousin of the czar of Russia and younger son of the brother of Alexander III., the Grand Duke Vladimir, is touring the United States, having entered this country via Japan and San Francisco.

GRAND DUKE BORIS.

He is making a tour of the world. He is not traveling incognito, but his visit is not official and no state functions will be organized in his honor. On account of his near relationship to the czar, however, he will be accorded all the courtesy and formality possible at a season when the government officials are all away from Washington. He will pay his respects to President Roosevelt, at Oyster Bay, and will spend some time at Bar Harbor, where there will be some brilliant entertainments arranged by Count Cassini, Russian ambassador.

Last of the Snuffboxes.

Senator Pettus of Alabama is the last man to use the ancient snuffboxes of the senate. Every now and then he goes to one of the black ebony boxes, which since time immemorial have been kept filled with the best quality of Scotch snuff, and, taking a pinch, snuffs it. Then an expansive smile spreads over his face, and, with a look of thorough enjoyment, he sneezes. Senator Harris of Tennessee and Senator Vest were at one time among the users of these snuffboxes. There is one on the Democratic and one on the Republican side of the chamber.

MARY MACLANE INTERVIEWED.

Butte's Author Boasts of Her Pure Anglo-Saxon Style.

HATES REPORTERS AND PAPERS.

She Indulges in Slang and is Neatly Reproved by a Newspaper Man—Is Bored by Chicago and Says Her Next Book Will Be a "Shocker" Too.

That eccentric girl from Butte, Mont., Miss Mary Elizabeth MacLane, author, according to Professor Triggs, of "Woman's Naked Soul," arrived in Chicago the other day and said that city bored her.

With one of "six toothbrushes," all her egotism, two books—"A History of the Clan MacLane" and "Poems of Passion"—she stepped off a St. Paul train into the grasp of three reporters, says the New York World. Her friend, Miss Monroe, who discovered her, was not present. She is not pretty, is commonplace in dress and appearance, but once she speaks she is decidedly original and startling.

A modest sailor hat, black silk skirt and jacket and blue silk stock comprised her costume. She wore no jewelry. Her face is oval, tanned and slightly freckled. Her nose is what the French term "retrouse." Brown hair, gray eyes, red lips and fine teeth show that the desert winds have done well by the young woman. She weighs not more than 115 pounds.

"Reporters, reporters!" she said. "I hate reporters and I hate newspapers. They don't understand me; they don't go deep enough."

"You'll like us by and by," said one of the newspaper men.

Then, taking her satchel and her books, they escorted her to a cab and drove to Miss Monroe's home.

"This looks like kidnapping," she exclaimed, "but I am not afraid if I am alone in a cab with three men."

"You notice, if you notice anything, that this long ride from Butte has made me weary. The next time I come I'll walk. This city bores me. The streets are as rough as Butte and the climate just as bad."

As to her book she said: "Writing that book was not extraordinary. I had been writing like that for two years. I simply gathered up my writings for a couple of months and published them. I told the truth in that book, and it struck the spot."

"Now, when you get to Radcliffe college you are not going to let any professor try to tell you how to write, are you?"

"I am not," she said. "If I at nineteen could have written the beautiful book I did write, don't you think that how that I am one and twenty I have sense enough to know that I know more than Harvard can teach me about English? I have a strong, pure, Anglo-Saxon style." This was said with an easy sense of superiority.

"I am going to write another book in two years, and it will be a 'shocker' too."

"You newspaper men must have to do many things you do not like at all, but I do not think you would really kidnap me. Still, I don't know," she said doubtfully. "We are all out for the dough."

"Mary, Mary, that was not the 'strong, pure, Anglo-Saxon' you spoke of only a moment ago—out for the dough. That was like Butte," said one of the reporters.

"I know it, but I'll use no more slang. Do you see this box?" she asked, pointing to a caramel holder she carried. "Well, a frown from Harvard gave me that in Butte, and I threw the candy away and put in some homemade fudge. I like them better."

"I believe I shall study chemistry in college because that is odd and interesting."

One of the most enjoyable picnics of the season was given by the ladies of the Progressive Club of Centerville on Thursday at the Burkham house one mile east of Granville. At an early hour carriages loaded with the merry picnicers and well filled baskets began to arrive. Soon the spacious lawn of this beautiful home was a lively scene. There in the shade of the grand old forest trees, tables were arranged, which soon groaned under the weight of the choicest viands the land affords. It would be hard to describe the dinner, but it was just such a one as the ladies of Centerville know how to prepare. Among other pleasant amusements was a lively guessing contest by the gentlemen. The prize a silver shaving mug was won by Mr. Fred Hobert. When the time came to say good-bye, each felt that this day of pleasure would hold a place in their memory.

FUNERAL

Of Mrs. Mary Litton Takes Place Sunday at One O'Clock, Burial at the Thomas Cemetery.

In the death of Mrs. Mary Litton one of the oldest members of the Fifth street Baptist church has been called to her reward.

Her last days were spent in a patient waiting for the Lord's call.

The last words which the pastor heard from her lips were the first verse of John 14, "Let not your heart be troubled."

Many evidences of a strong love for the Word of God are found in her old Bible which bears the marks of much reading.

There was found written on the margin of her Bible at the 14th Psalm her request that the 19th verse be used as the Scripture for a discourse at her funeral. "He will fulfill the desires of them that fear him. He will also hear their cry and save them. My mouth shall speak the praise of the Lord."

The funeral services will be held at her home on the Sabbath at 1 o'clock, her pastor, Rev. B. F. Patt officiating. Interment at the Thomas cemetery in the Welsh Hills.

BOY FATALLY HURT

While Miss McClain Was Badly Injured in a Runaway at Granville Friday Evening—John Slack Not Expected To Recover From His Injury.

Granville, Ohio, Aug. 2.—One of the most frightful runaways that ever occurred here and one of the most terrible in its results, happened on Friday evening, from the effects of which one person, it is thought, has been fatally injured and another badly injured.

Shortly after six o'clock Miss Adda Slack, daughter of Mr. Charles Slack, who is superintendent of the night school in the Ohio penitentiary, and whose home is just north of the village, had a horse that Mr. Slack had recently purchased in Columbus, hitched to a buggy, as she intended taking a short ride with Miss Edna Miller and her infant sister, daughters of Mr. Harry Miller, the manager at this point of the Logan Natural Gas Company. The horse, which was supposed to be very gentle started off all right, when he suddenly frightened at some music rendered by a strolling band of Italian musicians, and taking the bit in his mouth ran rapidly west on Broadway. The frightened girls had the presence of mind to wrap the baby up and place it in the bottom of the buggy, after which they used every exertion to stop the frightened animal, who was rushing along at a terrific pace. All the efforts of the girls, however, to stop the horse, proved unavailing until they had passed Kyleville, when the animal, which had become somewhat wild by that time, was stopped. Two men who had started on their wheels in pursuit of the runaway came up just as the girls got out of the buggy and they took charge of the rig, while the girls walked back to the village.

Mr. Harry Miller, who had reached the scene by this time, took charge of the horse and buggy and drove up to

WILD DASH OVER THE PRAIRIES.

Mounted on Bronchos, Former Rough Riders Who Fought at San Juan Will Race From Deadwood to Omaha to Greet Their Old Leader—Winner to Receive $1,000.

When President Roosevelt visits the west this fall, he will be met in Omaha, Neb., by a big delegation of former rough riders who stormed the heights of San Juan hill with him and who will come from all over the plains and mountains of North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana, writes a correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. They will not go to Omaha in Pullmans, either, but will make a wild dash over the prairies from Deadwood, S. D., 600 miles away, on their stout little bronchos. In addition to welcoming his old friend and leader, the winner of the race will receive fifty twenty dollar goldpieces, $1,000. There will also be a five hundred dollar cash prize and half a dozen other prizes, consisting of silver mounted saddle, bridles, bits, etc.

The race will test to the uttermost the endurance of both horses and men, one of the rules being that each man shall ride the same horse from Deadwood to Omaha. There will be no relay riding, and the terrible strain is expected to show the superiority of the western horseman over all others.

The only condition imposed upon the entries is that each man shall finish on the same mount on which he started and that the horse must be a western bred horse. Any one who cares to enter the race may do so.

The starting of the race will be under the supervision of Tom Hartzell, city marshal of Chadron, Neb., when that town was wild and woolly, and Captain Seth Bullock, first sheriff of the Black Hills and captain of rough riders. The men will be ranged in front of the city hall at Deadwood, and after being addressed by the mayor of that city will be started by a pistol shot. They will keep together as long as in the city limits, after passing which they are at liberty to choose their own routes.

Already more than fifty men have signified their intentions of joining the race, and three cowgirls from Slim Buttes, Wyo., have notified the promoters.

the Slack home with the intention of leaving them there and walking back home, but Miss Adda McClain, an aunt of the Slack girl, and little Johnnie Slack, son of Mr. Charles Slack, intervened on driving him home, as they felt confident that they could manage the horse. Upon their arrival at the home of Mr. Miller they stopped for a moment or two to talk, when the horse suddenly leaped forward and started rapidly down the street.

In turning the corner of Granger and Broadway the buggy was overturned and the occupants were thrown to the ground. The little Slack boy landed on his head and was rendered unconscious, while the blood gushed from his mouth, eyes and ears, and Miss McClain was badly injured. The horse soon tore himself loose from the buggy and running up the street, jumped over a fence and ran through several fields before he was caught. It is reported that the horse has the reputation of being a very bad animal, and that he has run away on numerous occasions.

Dr. Thompson and Cook were soon on hand and attended to the injured one, who had been carried into adjacent houses. Dr. Follett was called in later. It was soon found that the Slack boy had been terribly injured about the head, while there were numerous bruises and cuts all over his body. It was the opinion of those who witnessed the accident that the boy had been instantly killed, but the doctors succeeded in reviving him. His death is supposed to be only question of a few hours. Mr. Slack was telegraphed of the sad affair, and arrived home at a late hour Friday night.

Miss McClain while very badly injured especially about the lower limbs, is not supposed to be seriously hurt.

motors that they will also compete. Among the well known characters who have entered are "Doc" Middleton, formerly one of the really bad men of the border, scout, frontiersman, gun fighter and picturesque character; James Hartzell, the crack rifle shot of the west; William Charwick, "Bar Z. Kid," "Carney Bill," the famous broncho buster; "Scar Face" Thompson, "Seven Up Kid," "Mexican Pete" and "Lariat Pete." The Indians from Rosebud and Pine Ridge agencies are very much worked up over the event and are preparing to make a number of entries. Several will also come from Buffalo Bill's Riding college at Cody, Wyo.

The only handicap some of the riders will carry is that some of their fellows will better understand the topography of the country and thus be able to ride a more direct route.

Army officers all over the west are watching the coming race, and the government will probably have an official report for future use.

SANDOW GIRL THE LATEST.

New Shirt Waist Leads an Athletic Effect to the Figure.

The Sandow girl is in style. The new shirt waists are built so that a woman looks twice as wide as she is, says the London Times. In her skirt she looks narrower, for skirts are very clinging, and they are fitted as far down as the knees. But with the waist it is different. Here the figure must be broad and apparently muscular, so that the midsummer woman comes very near being top heavy.

The new waists are made with the shoulder plait. This is a fold of cloth which is put on in such a manner that it projects over the shoulders. In certain shape it is called the "Gibsonian," and its immediate effect is to make the shoulders look very wide. It is really more becoming to a slender woman than to a plump one, but both styles are wearing it, and you are gradually getting used to the woman who looks twice as broad as she did in the spring. Sleeves display the same peculiarity. They are tucked in rows of tucking running around the arm, and they are trimmed with bands of lace going round and round, all of which tend to make the sleeves large and the arm big.

Unpleasant For Both.

An Irishman whose face was so plain that his friends used to tell him it was an offense to the landscape happened also to be as poor as he was homely.

One day a neighbor met him and asked:

"How are you, Pat?"

"Mighty bad! Sure, 'tis starvation that's starin' me in the face."

"Degorra," exclaimed his neighbor sympathetically, "it can't be pleasant for either of you!"—London Outlook.

A STRONG, VIGOROUS MAN

Is Liable to Break Down—Pe-ru-na is Sure to Restore.

ALDERMAN

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-Fourth District, writes from 232 East Fifty-Eighth Street, New York City: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectually restore health as Peruna. Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold a few doses of Peruna builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh. Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptoms of it since."

Very truly,
FRANK DUNN, Alderman 24th Dist., N. Y. City.

A TONIC is a medicine that gives tone to some part of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is a tonic that operates on the mucous membranes.

Peruna is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation which constitutes these delicate membranes. Peruna is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibres. Catarrh cannot exist long where Peruna is used intelligently. Peruna seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body.

Paul Landrum writing from Atlanta, Ga., says:

"In January last I began the use of your Peruna and Manalin for what was termed organic heart trouble. At that time I could scarcely walk to my place of business without stopping to rest and on arrival felt completely exhausted. Had severe pains in my heart and general dizziness. After using the first bottle of Peruna I began to improve and today I feel that I am a sound man and I work fourteen hours a day without any bad feeling."—Paul Landrum.

A. M. Ikerd, an employee of the C. B. & Q. R. R., West Burlington, Ia., writes:

"I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief. Finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me, that I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was something awful. I could hardly stand it, it was so offensive. I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse.

"Finally I got one of your books, and concluded I would try Peruna, and thank God, I found a relief and a cure for that dreadful disease. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle in my house all the time."—A. M. Ikerd.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

OVERWORKED WOMEN

Should Beware of a Serious Organic Break-down. Take Heed in Time.

The ordinary every-day life of most of our women is a ceaseless treadmill of work.

How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system all unstrung!

One day she is wretched and utterly miserable; in a day or two she is better and laughs at her fears, thinking there is nothing much the matter after all; but before night the deadly backache reappears, the limbs tremble, the lips twitch—it seems as though all the imps of Satan were clutching her vitals; she goes to pieces and is flat on her back.

No woman ought to arrive at this terrible state of misery, because these symptoms are a sure indication of womb troubles. She must remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is almost an infallible cure for all female ills, such as irregularity of periods, which cause weak stomach, sick headache, etc., displacements and inflammation of the womb, or any of the multitudes of illnesses which beset the female organism.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. No man will see your letter. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and helpful.

Mrs. Richard Dixon wrote to Mrs. Pinkham when she was in great trouble. Her letters are here printed.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered for four years with pain in my back, and a terrible bearing-down feeling in the lower part of my bowels, and at times the abdomen seems to swell and becomes very sore. I have terrible sharp pains in my ovaries and am very nervous, also troubled with leucorrhoea and irregular menstruation. I have started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I do not feel much better, so I thought I would write and ask you what to do. Please answer soon, as I am a great sufferer and long to get relief."—Mrs. RICHARD DIXON, 11 Farewell St., Newport, R.I. (Jan. 11, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to thank you for your letter of advice. Since taking your Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills and using your Sanative Wash, as directed by you, my backache and terrible pains in ovaries have disappeared. I feel that your Vegetable Compound should be used by all weak women."—Mrs. RICHARD DIXON, 11 Farewell St., Newport, R.I. (April 11, 1901.)

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find the alien's testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Mr Fitzgerald Comes Home With New Ideas for Work in Gymnasium Improvements Made.

Mr. Charles T. Rea, of Canton, O., has returned to Newark to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. tent at the camp grounds during the encampment of the Second Brigade next week. The tent will be erected this afternoon and put in order for the use of the boys as they come into camp. The popularity of this tent at the First Brigade encampment has greatly encouraged the Association. The officers among them Governor Nash himself, spoke in highest terms of the value of the work done and of its good influence upon the men. The Y. M. C. A. is surely to be commended for the practical service which it is rendering the members of the National Guard.

Mr. E. G. Fitzgerald, physical director, returned home yesterday from a month's stay at Lake Geneva, Wis., where he has been attending the summer term of the Chicago Training school for secretaries and physical directors. He reports a very pleasant and profitable time and says he is to take up his work here with renewed energy. The gymnasium classes which will be organized as soon as the weather grows cooler, will no doubt reap the benefit of the new ideas and additional training which Mr. Fitzgerald picked up during this month at the Lake.

The gymnasium committee has decided to make a number of improvements in the gymnasium, dressing rooms and bath. One hundred new combination locks have been ordered and will be placed on the lockers so that all the members may hereafter be accommodated with the superior service of these locks. New slats are being placed in the shower baths and the apparatus is all to be put in first class order before the opening of the fall work.

The attention of young men is again called to the "Conversational Class" in "Life Questions," which meets in the Y. M. C. A. parlors every Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The attendance and interest during July were such that the committee has decided to continue the class during the months of August.

A BEAUTY—One of the largest and handsomest specimens of Muskunge ever caught in the lakes, was caught by one of Newark's camping party near Allenville, Mich. The lucky fisherman was Mr. E. J. Maurath who pulled out a muskunge fifty inches long, and which weighed 26 pounds. Mr. Maurath shipped it to Newark by Adams Express, and it arrived here on Saturday. It will be mounted by Capt. S. G. Hamilton, the well known taxidermist. The fish is certainly a beauty.

PURINTON'S FAST.

duodenum and pancreas needed a rest, with the restorative force of air, sun, water, exercise, massage, breathing and like physical agencies.

But the crowning purpose of fast is illumination, and I cannot explain that in full till the book on which I am working is prepared for the public. The principles it will proclaim would revolutionize and regenerate society, the family, and the individual, would transform the popular thought, therapy and theology, and would, within three generations people this earth with gods.

It is chiefly for revelation and psychic power that I am fasting. Buddha, Jesus and other world-leaders that have fasted for forty days knew the secrets of infinite illumining.

But I weary you, and I couldn't explain on paper anyway the true philosophy of the voluntary fast at present. I expect to eat a little something on Saturday, August 9th, that day being the 31st since tasting food. Part of the time I have taken acid fruit juice, such as orange, pineapple, peach etc., these liquids not being food, but rather medicinal in effect—laxative, depurative, diuretic and germicidal.

They act most beneficially on the liver, and bring quicker results than aerated distilled water alone.

The fast is more than fulfilling expectations, both physically and psychically. And later I shall describe it in detail, publishing the account as suggested above.

I want finally to thank you again for the exceptional courtesy of your letter and your evident attitude of impartial sincerity. And it is a pleasure to give the Advocate the only authorized explanation for publication.

Yours very sincerely,

EDWARD EARLE PURINTON.

Obedient Orders.

"What was the cause of that awful racket and disturbance in your office just before you came?" asked one of the tenants on the third floor.

"You know that young cowboy that came yesterday to begin the study of law with me?" said the other.

"Yes."

"Well, I thought he might as well begin at the bottom, and I told him that when he came down this morning the first thing for him to do would be to clean out the office. He found half a dozen fellows there waiting for me, but he did it, all right."—Chicago Tribune.

Taffeta Bands For Muslin Gowns. Lace the Ideal Ornamentation.

A new idea in trimming muslin and batiste gowns is the use of taffeta bands. They are straight or curved at the edges and scattered with embroidered polka dots. The taffeta may be white or some delicate color. One band is placed at the hem and another between waist and hem, curving up in the back. The bodice usually is outlined at the yoke with an applique pattern of this.

Lace forms, of course, the ideal summer trimming. Jaunty little coats made of lace are quite cut away in front to show the waist and fasten with a band of chine ribbon, which passes under the arms and is caught with art nouveau enameled clasps. The sleeves reach to a little below the elbow and are slit to above the bend of the arm.

Some of the neatest street parasols are made of white silk, hemstitched around the edge. The silk is often embroidered in polka dots or small figures, and the handles are of wood.

A pretty blue muslin is the subject of the sketch. The waist is made with a very original arrangement in the shape of a frilled bolero and a wide satin collar. The sleeves are finished with frills. The skirt is laid in fine perpendicular tucks and has a graduated flounce finished with three narrow frills. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DETAILS OF DRESS.

Neck Bands Are Made to Go With Each Costume.

The tulle bow at the back of the neck is not seen so much on gowns this summer.

Bands of every description are the rage this summer. They come in chiffon, dotted and plain; net, feathers, chenille, ribbon, and crepe de chine in all the delicate shades as well as black and white. White dotted net trimmed with black and white ribbon is very pretty. The chenille bands are usually of black, trimmed with white chiffon or white satin ribbon. Some are small, while others reach to the bottom of the gown. The newest are composed of one or more wide ruffles, which lie flat on the shoulders and gradually taper as they reach the ends.

Many of the handsomest bands are made of lace.

A very dainty cape ruffle is the subject of our sketch. It is made of wide lace gathered very full in two rows, and it is ornamented with a spray of natural looking pink roses. The hat which goes with this is of pink chiffon trimmed with small pink roses and black velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Plain Statement Backed By Newark Proof!

It is a well known fact that you cannot furnish permanent strength by a false system of stimulation. Most so-called nerve tonics are stimulants. They whip you into action for a time, then let you drop. This is just what Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills do not do. This great medicine begins at the bottom, and by supplying the something lacking—nerve force—builds you up in perfect health and strength again. No sense of stimulation, simply puts each and every organ into splendid working order—able to supply every demand, mental or physical, that may be made upon it. The following strong home evidence of results obtained fully proves the statement:

479 N. FOURTH ST.

Read the following: Mr. J. W. Haliday of 479 North Fourth street Newark, Ohio, says: "I was troubled with general nervousness and my heart gave me considerable trouble, weak and irregular in action. I was recommended to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Bricker's City Drug Store and they gave me the best of results. I can recommend them to anyone."
